AUCTION SALES-This Day.

A SECTION OF THE CHESAPEAKE AND WESTERN ROAD.

Excursions, Refreshments. Greatly Extended-How Projected.

HARRISONBURG, VA., April 28.-(Sp cial.)-The Chesapeake and Western failroad was formally opened to-day for public traffic between Bridgewater and Elkton, in Rockingham county, a distance of twenty-seven miles. This is the line which was begun last summer, and to which local subscriptions were made to the amount of $150,000.

The company ran two excursion trains to-day over the entire line, for which complimentary tickets were issued to subscribers and their families. Something more than 1,000 passengers were carried. At Elkton, the eastern terminus, where connection is made with the Norfolk and Western road, lunch was served to the guests at the Elkton Hotel. THE SPEAKERS.

Short congratulatory speeches were made by Mr. J. W. Reinhart, president of the new road, School-Superintendent G. H. Hulvey, George N. Conrad, Senator George B. Keesell, and Rev, A. P. Funkhouser, Mr. J. P. Houck, of Harrisonburg, presided and introduced the speakers. The new road is substantially con-tiructed, using 80-pound steel raii-The section opened to-day is part of a projected line through from the coal and limber regions of West Virginia to Tide-

THE PRESIDENT'S STATEMENT. President Reinhart stated that the company had stready expended $35,000 in surveys, rights of way, and construction, and $42,000 in equipment, using no part of the local subscriptions, which were not payable until the present section had been completed and part in operation. They have 185 miles of road surveyed east and wast of the present line, and are closing have 185 miles of road surveyed east and west of the present line, and are closing up details for its early extension. The road runs through one of the richest sections of the Valley and promises to be of great local value as a cross line tapping the Baltimore and Ohio system at Harrisonburg, and the Norfolk and Western at Elkton. Trains will begin running regularly to-morrow morning.

DEATH ON THE RAIL.

A Roanoke Man Killed by a Shifting Engine.

ROANOKE, VA., April 28 .- (Special.)-Josiah Friend, who had recently been employed to overhaul the machinery at the American Bridge-Works, while riding on his bleyele to work this morning about 6 o'clock, and when crossing the Shenandoah Valley railroad in the cut leading to the works below the gas-house, was struck by a shifting engine. The shock knocked him senseless to the ground, where he lay unconscious and bleeding profusely about the head. He was carried by rallroad-men to the office of Dr. Gale, where he died at about 9:30 o'clock, never having regained conscious

Deceased was about 60 years old, and Deceased was about 60 years old, and leaves a wife and three sons. He was a native of Maine, but had lived many years in Scotland, and came from there in 182 to this city, where he obtained employment at the Roanoke Machine-Works, and for several years worked there. About 1832 Mr. Friend went to altimore, spending a year or so there, adying law, and returned to Roanoke 1886, where he commenced the practice

Monumental's Eastertide Celebra-

The Sunday school of Monumental church held its Easterlide celebration Sanday afternoon. The weather was auspicious, the attendance was large, the expresses were highly interesting, and the occasion was as joyous and bright as the sunshine without.

The excellent programme had been ar-ranged with care, the children were well drilled, and the manner in which they marched into the church and out again at the close of the exercises would have though there were a great many in line, there was perfect order and precision.

The feature of the evening, so far as the little ones were concerned, was the building of the tail floral cross. As Dr. Stickney called the classes, one by one, their banner and flower-bearers would march to the chancel, where the floral offerings were banded to those building the cross, and the banner-bearers took seats around the chancel with their prettily-inserbed ensigns adorned with flowers facing the audience.

The music was exceptionally good, and the address of Rev. Preston Nash was in his happiest vein. Taking the story of the "Prophet's Chamber" as his text, he spoke on heart-houses, and urged all—the old as well as the young—to keep these houses, which were more important than those of brick or stone, in order, and to reserve a cosey, bright room in them for Christ.
